GOVERNORS IN DEBATE UPON SEAWAY PLAN

Governor Allen of Kansas and Governor Miller of New York argue pro and con on Lawrence Project.

NEEDED AS OUTLET TO STATES OF INLAND EMPIRE SAYS ALLEN

Not Feasible Says Miller; Claims Burden of Cost Would Fall on New York

CHICAGO.—The St. Lawrence seaway project, which would turn the great lakes into a "freshwater Mediterranean," was the subject of a formal debate Tuesday night between Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas and Gov. Nathan L. Miller of New York. The forum was provided by the Illinois Manufacturers' association at a dinner at the La Salle hotel.

Gov. Allen championed the proposed seaway, while Gov. Miller took the negative. As a certain misser for the discussion, Herman H. Heller, president of the manufacturers' association, read a telegram from President Harding applauding the value of the project.

Mr. Harding said his own attitude did not need restatement—he has endorsed the project.

Holds Seaway Necessary

Gov. Allen, in opening the ball, declared the St. Lawrence seaway is absolutely essential as a transportation outlet for the eighteen states which are economically closer to lake ports than to seaports. He declared the farmers of the middle west have been struck a paralyzing blow by the increased cost of transportation. The seaway, he argued, would add 5 to 7 cents to the value of every bushel of grain, raised in the middle west. It would mean $250,000,000 added profit each year to the grain growers of the eighteen states.

It would put in the pocket of the grain growers alone, Gov. Allen said, more money each year than would pay the entire cost of the canal, let alone what it would mean to industry and manufacturing and general commerce. And where the west would get navigation out of the improvement the east would get both navigation and electrical power which would save $150,000,000 worth of coal each year.

Miller's Argument Against It

Gov. Miller repeated the line of reasoning he took before the national rivers and harbors congress at Washington on March 1.

He insisted the St. Lawrence project was not feasible; that it was an impossible vision, that the burden of cost would fall upon New York, whose water power rights would be taken to pay the bill, and that much more of the commerce of states asking for the seaway can be carried by existing waterways, by the Mississippi and its tributaries, and by the lakes and the New York barge canal to the Atlantic. He stated yesterday that his chief objection is that the project is impracticable. He said that if he could be convinced otherwise he would be for it.

British Flyers In Attempt To Circle Globe

CROYDON, England.—By The Associated Press. Mayor W. T. Blake and two companions started from the airfield here at 3:05 o'clock Wednesday afternoon on an attempted 30,000 mile air flight around the world.

While Mayor Blake and his fellow aviators made their start in a DH-9 airplane their arrangements have contemplated the use of four machines of different makes from different parts of their journey. Announcements of their plans have indicated they hope to get as far as Calcutta with their first machine by way of Paris, Rome, Athens, Alexandria, Bagdad, and Delhi, approximately 7,000 miles.

On the next stage the use of a Fairchild type E, a floating seaplane has been planned. In this machine, fitted with a 360-horse-power Rolls-Royce engine the airman would fly from Calcutta and proceed along the Chinese coast to Japan and then along the Aleutian Islands and the Alaskan coast to Vancouver.

At Vancouver the plan calls for a change into another DH-9 machine for crossing of Canada with a swerve to Chicago and thence to New York.

After using this machine for the flight to Newfoundland they purpose taking up their fourth machine, an F3 flying boat with two 300 horse-power Rolls-Royce engines and flying on this machine across Greenland, Iceland, and the Faro Islands to Scotland, landing at Aberdeen.

Major Blake has estimated what with a bit of luck he could get around the world in three months, spending approximately 300 hours in the air.

FIREMEN ELECTROCUTED IN ATTEMPT TO SAVE TUNNEL WORKERS OVERCOME BY GAS

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Three city firemen and two tunnel workers were killed by gas and electricity at the bottom of a fifty-two-foot shaft of the intercepting sewer system at National and Twentieth avenues Wednesday morning. Nearly a score of firemen were overcome by gas fumes and six seriously hurt.

The dead:

MATHIAS WAMBACH, 26, pipeman, Engine Company No. 26.

ANTON KRAPCHECK, 37, pipeman, Engine Company No. 26.

PAUL J. WINSAUER, 34, member rescue squad.

JOHN SCHLECK, tunnel worker.

UNIDENTIFIED TUNNEL WORKER.

The firemen were at the bottom of the shaft to rescue two tunnel workers who had been overcome.

Condition Unusual

"Workers had never complained of gas," said Superintendent Koch of the sewer construction work. "Everything worked smoothly until this morning. Just what was wrong is hard to determine. John Schleck, found dead, was generally the first one to go down into the shaft each morning to start the pumps. The pumps not only supplied air, but kept the water level from rising. The gas must have generated during the night. Fortunately the accident did not happen later in the day, when nearly a hundred men would have been in the shaft or tunnel."

With the pumps in the tunnel stopped by the cutting of the electric wires, because of live wires, water flooded the shaft and before the last victim was taken from the bottom five feet of water covered the floor of the tunnel.

Two Overcome

The first man into the shaft was Schleck, a tunnel worker. Ten, fifteen, twenty minutes elapsed and he failed to return. Then a new man, now an unidentified corpse at the morgue, went down after Schleck to learn what was wrong.

A peculiar feature of the tragedy is that it has not been determined exactly what sort of gas caused the death of the five. It was not illuminating gas from a broken main, as at first supposed. It is generally believed to have been carbon dioxide.

An alarm was sent to the fire department. Mathias Wambach, hero of the world war, was the first fireman down the shaft. By this time Chief Murphy had arrived and immediately a special call for truck companies with respirators and gas masks. This brought trucks No. 1, 2, 4 and 8 to the scene, together with the rescue squad with five oxygen helmets and pulmotors.

Firemen Electrocuted

Pipeman Wambach went down with a gas mask. Behind him was Anton Krapcheck. They were down five minutes before scores of other firemen followed into the shaft under Chief Peterson, Murphy and Capt. Hendricks.

"The sight at the bottom of the shaft was indescribable," said Chief Peterson after the last body was drawn to the surface with ropes. "I found Matt Wambach against a live wire. He was horribly burned. Near him was the body of one of the tunnel workers he went to save. His gas mask was torn from his face. It appears that he felt hampered by this protection and tore it away from himself to work better. Tony Krapcheck was nearby."

SQUARE DEAL FOR IMMIGRANT ASKED BY SPEAKER HERE

Miss Marjorie Daw Johnson Pleads for Social Service Work

GREAT CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT CAN BE MADE IN THE HOMES

Strong Talk Features Twentieth Century Club Banquet

A STIRRING plea for a square deal for the immigrant was made by Miss Marjorie Daw Johnson in her address before the members of the Twentieth Century Club at the annual banquet held in the Chamber of Commerce Hall Tuesday evening.

"The immigrants do most of the work which is done in this country," declared Miss Johnson. "They are making the nation economically and industrially, and yet they are scorned and despised, known to most of us as just 'Wops' instead of real human beings."

Miss Johnson is well qualified to speak on the subject of immigration, having spent several years in close contact with the foreign born element of the country, both in their native lands, and in this country. She has had actual experience with twenty-three different races of people, and says that she finds them all the same fundamentally, though their standards differ radically in some cases.

Thirty-six Races

In America, the speaker said, there are 36 races of people, speaking 42 different languages. The total foreign born population of the United States is in excess of 15 million, of whom 7 million cannot even speak English. These people have more than 300 societies, 137 newspapers and 1250 periodicals in their own languages. They comprise altogether, 50 per cent of the total population of the country. These figures give an idea of what constitutes the immigration problem.

Little is done by the government, as such, to solve the problem. What is being done at all is being done by small groups of social service workers, such as Hull House in Chicago, the Henry Street Settlement in New York, the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A., etc. In Chicago, where five out of every six children have parents who are unable to speak English, the foreign aid has practically stopped due to lack of funds.

In Two Classes

Miss Johnson divided the immigrants coming to the United States since immigration began into two classes. The first, coming up until the beginning of the industrial boom after the civil war she called romantic, since they came mostly to open up a new land, or to gain political or religious freedom. The second group she designated as economic, coming mainly for the purpose of making money. The increased demand for laborers after the civil war resulted in great hordes of im-

SCHROEDER JURY UNABLE TO AGREE

Judge Fowler Dismisses Liquor Case Triers; Stood 11 to 1 for Acquittal, Report

JOSEPH HAHN FOUND GUILTY OF CHARGES OF POSSESSION

Case of Ben Medinger, Charged With Possession and Sale Goes to Jury

AFTER BEING out all night, the jury in the case of Oscar Schroeder charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquor was unable to reach an agreement. Judge Fowler took the case from the jury Wednesday morning and dismissed them.

11 to 1 For Acquittal

It is reported that they stood 11 to 1 for acquittal. Shortly before midnight the three women jurors, Rose Gots, Emma Linse and Elsie Coleman, were escorted to the Stoddard hotel by Bailiff Martha Bosshard while the men camped on the second floor of the court house under the eye of Bailiff Henry Luth, making themselves as comfortable as possible on tables and in chairs. The men on the jury were Frank Petrosick, Robert H. Burcum, Alexander Ambrosius, A. T. Hanson, Clyde McHugh, Gust Staff, Joseph F. Bartl, George Baum and R. J. Russell.

Only one husband, showed up in court early Wednesday morning to make mild inquiry as to how his wife had fared during the night.

Hahn Found Guilty

Joseph Hahn was found guilty by a jury late Tuesday afternoon on charges of illegal possession of liquor. A gallon jug of moonshine was found in the pantry of the Hahn home, which is located above the saloon at Rose and St. Cloud streets, by Sheriff Miller and federal prohibition enforcement deputies. Hahn denied all knowledge of the moonshine being in his home and laid the blame on his bartender, John (Boots) McGuire, for bringing it there. John Doherty was his attorney.

Schroeder Denies Responsibility

Oscar Schroeder was arraigned after the Hahn trial. He also was charged with illegal possession of liquor. Federal deputies testified that when they entered the barroom of the Eagle hotel, on South Fifth street, they found a small quantity of white and colored moonshine in glasses on the work bench under the bar. They asserted that Schroeder was half sitting and standing back of the bar with one foot on the work bench near the liquor.

Schroeder declared that he was standing near the end of the bar punching meal tickets, that he was not tending bar, and that he did not know there was any liquor on the work bench. He said he and his brother, Eugene, tended bar and that another man named Lucas relieved them at odd hours during the day and night. Schroeder also claimed that Lucas was on duty at the time the federal deputies visited the saloon, but at the exact moment that they entered Lucas had stepped away from the bar, leaving Schroeder the only one visible behind the bar who might have any authority.

Schroeder declared that his mother managed the hotel and that he and his brother assisted her, taking care of the saloon. The license issued by the common council was made out in the name of "the estate of Henry Schroeder." Schroeder also denied full responsibility in the management of the bar.

ROCKELMAN CASE DROPPED

Fred H. Hartwell, attorney for Fred Rockelman, informed the court Wednesday, that Rockelman's suit against Martin Solberg had been settled out of court. The suit was the outgrowth of a crap game, played on the floor of the barroom of the Eagle hotel, with Oscar Schroeder as one of the participants. The game broke up in a row and Rockelman contended that he failed to get back money which he had given to Solberg to "hold for him." Solberg declared that he had returned the money.

Ben Medinger on Trial

Ben Medinger, who kept a saloon at Twelfth and La Crosse streets, was put on trial Wednesday morning on charges of having intoxicating liquor in his possession for sale. State witnesses testified that they entered the saloon on a Saturday night a month ago. Medinger and his bartender, John Bernitski, were behind the bar. A customer was standing at each end of the bar, the witnesses said, with a short glass of pop before them. The drinks were

REDUCTIONS WILL AVERAGE TEN PERCENT FOR NATION; EFFECTIVE ON JULY FIRST

Commission Holds Return of 5 1/4 Per Cent is Sufficient; Passenger Travel and Pullman Charges Not Affected by the Decision

WASHINGTON.—Reduction in freight rates averaging about ten percent were ordered Wednesday by the interstate commerce commission, in a decision resulting from its inquiry into the general rate structure of the nation.

The cut in freight rates was fixed by the commission at fourteen percent in eastern territory; thirteen and one-half percent in western territory and twelve and one-half percent in the southern and mountain Pacific territories. All reductions ordered are effective July 1 and constitute a greater cut than was generally expected.

The commission in ordering the decreases—which are on a horizontal basis—held that the nation's railroads are entitled to earn five and three-quarters percent on the value of their property rather than six percent fixed as a reasonable return in the transportation act of 1920.

Transportation charges on passenger travel and Pullman charges were left unaffected by the decision.

The commission in its decision decided a general reduction in rate levels, as substantial as the condition of the carriers will permit, will tend to stabilize conditions "of all business."

"Transportation charges have mounted to the point where they are impeding the free flow of commerce," the commission's decision, which ordered a far greater reduction of rates than had been anticipated in any quarter said, "and are thus tending the defeat of the purpose for which they were established, that of producing revenue which would enable the carriers to provide the people of the United States with adequate transportation."

Cut Averages 10 Per Cent

The rate cut averaged approximately an actual ten per cent decrease in rates. Only two members of the board, Commissioners Lewis and Cox, dissented, holding that the adjustments should have been made in commodity rates rather than on a horizontal basis. Chairman McCord and other commissioners accepted this view in a supplemental opinion concurring with the majority.

The order of the commission fixing the new level of rates defined the percentages of reduction as follows: "In the eastern group, also between points in Illinois territory and between Illinois territory and the eastern group, 26 per cent instead of the 40 per cent authorized in the decisions last cited (the rate increases of 1920)."

"In the western group and between the western group and Illinois territory 21 5-10 per cent instead of the 25 per cent so authorized."

"In the southern and mountain Pacific groups 12 5-10 per cent instead of the 25 per cent so authorized."

"On inter-territorial traffic except as otherwise provided here in 20 per cent instead of the 33 1-3 per cent so authorized."

Farm Products Not Affected

Agricultural products will not be affected by the reduction, granted under the commission's order. The reduction of 10 1/2 per cent made in the western hay and grain rates last fall and the voluntary 10 per cent cut made in all agricultural products by railroads January 1 will be substituted for the decision on these commodities.

In the matter of reasonable return the commission pointed out that until March 1, 1922, railroads had been legally entitled to six per cent annual earnings on the aggregate value of property used in transportation. The sum was fixed by the transportation act as the amount equal to 5 1/2 per cent with one-half of one percent additional to be granted in the discretion of the commission for provision for improvements and betterments to railroads. The commission exercised this discretion and the reasonable return known as "the six per cent return." The commission in modifying the fair return standard, reviewed testimony taken by it in the general rate case and concluded that "a substantial reduction in the percentage of return might be unsettling in its effect, particularly in light of the fact that the return allowed in 1920 was not realized."

"We may observe that a fair return of 5 1/2 per cent," the commission said, in further explanation, "after deducting the federal corporation income tax on a return of six per cent, would be approximately the equivalent of a fair return of six per cent, out of which the federal income tax was payable."

Based on 1920 Estimates

In this connection the commission concluded that its 1920 estimates of the aggregate value of railroad property in the country, which was $18,900,000,000 as made for rate making purposes could still be accepted. The changes in valuation made since

LOTS OF WHEAT AS MAY DELIVERIES ARE MADE AT 6 CENT DROP

Quotations Tumble as Trainloads of Grain Pour Into Chicago

BULLS TRY IN VAIN TO STEM SELLING TIDE

Immense Arrivals Expected for the Rest of Week

CHICAGO, Ill.—Wheat collapsed rapidly in price Wednesday and the May delivery quotations tumbled as much as six cents a bushel compared with 24 hours before. The finish of transactions in the market was at the bottom figures of the day, $1.32 to $1.32 1/2 for the current month. Reports were in circulation that the May delivery, which has kept the trade on edge for weeks has practically come to an end a week ahead of time.

Whether or not the struggle was over which of late has brought wheat here by train loads from every available source, it was certain that a dramatic stage had been reached for the selling of a May wheat came heavily from the bulls, the interest that recently sent the market skyrocketing to nearly $1.50 a bushel for this month's delivery. On the other hand, much of the buying was from the shorts, that is the houses that were generally believed to have been operating on the basis that prices were too high.

Smash at Close

Wednesday's market opened with a distinct downward tendency and this was gradually accelerated but the market showed signs of rallying power until just before the close. Then prices gave way in earnest as a result of combined liquidating sales, selling pressure from bears and stop loss selling, that is the effort to close out unprofitable dealings, while there was yet an opportunity.

A desperate attempt to stampede shorts into buying preceded the final break in prices. However, a new wave of selling swept over the pit and despite the utmost endeavors of the bulls May as well as other months went suddenly down grade.

Lots of Wheat

Deliveries on May contracts in the morning had been well up toward a million bushels and it was apparent that new arrivals of wheat here which this morning amounted to 350 carloads were being delivered on May contracts as fast as received. The significance of this was apparent in the light of knowledge that continued immense arrivals for every day in the coming week before the end of the month were a virtual certainty, and that it would be possible to start train loads of wheat here from as far away as the Missouri river on next Tuesday and still have the wheat in Chicago in time for delivery here on May contracts before the end of business May 31, the final day for settlement of the May deal.

LA FOLLETTE SOON TO OPEN CAMPAIGN OFFICE IN MADISON

Son Will be in Charge of Campaign; Blaine Race Directed from Same Headquarters

MADISON, Wis.—Campaign headquarters will be opened for the La Follette progressive ticket in Madison within the next few days. Rooms for the direction of the campaign have been engaged in the Marston Block, and Robert La Follette, Jr., is already at work directing the preliminaries of the campaign.

Senator La Follette is expected to be back in Madison early in June. He then plans a speaking campaign which will carry him into every district in the state. Governor Blaine's campaign will be managed jointly with that of Senator La Follette and the entire battery of the progressive forces will be managed from the same offices. This would indicate that there is no foundation to the rumor that Senator La Follette and Governor Blaine, were not in complete accord.

STATE CONVENTION OF EAGLES TO BE HELD AT MADISON

MADISON, Wis.—Preparations are advancing rapidly here for the state convention of the Eagles to be held at the state capitol June 5, 6, 7, and 8th. Gov. I used to be rather a trial to go into the shops and see them—exquisite underthings of shimmering silk and delicate lace.

But what was the use, you asked yourself mournfully, of getting the adorable things only to have them ruined the first time they were washed. Silk is perishable, unless it is properly cared for; careless laundering will quickly ruin it. Just the suds from a harsh soap or harsh soap flake can affect delicate colors, and coarsen fine textures. Rubbing will rough up and fray the tiny, silk threads.

Communism, Ltd.

SENATOR Borah, boosting his resolution demanding American recognition of the soviet government, declared that "the communists in Russia are very limited by this time, and by no means what they were a few years ago." Which is undoubtedly true, but a poor argument for recognition. The communists are limited, perhaps, but their despotic control of Russia is considerably more impressive than their numbers. Permitting freedom of trade in food, and thirty-nine year leases of property taken without repayment from the rightful owners, the title to which remains in the state, indicates a general trend in Russia toward sanity. But there is a long way to go. Recognition of Russia is still shaking hands with murder and robbery, and will remain so until there is a Russian government with the same standards of decency and honor that prevail elsewhere in the world. Moreover, as Mr. Hughes sees it, recognition of the soviet government nowhere offers a prospect of any value to the United States. Communism in Russia is withering, and dropping its leaves a few at a time in the endeavor to keep the main stem alive. Recognition by the United States would only help to keep the weed alive for a time longer. Our best chance to serve Russia is to keep up our refusal to have anything to do with its government, and to continue to feed and encourage such of their victims as we can reach. Some day they will throw out the reds. Then there will be a Russian government we can accept.

"Oh, Ye of Little Faith"

A FRIEND of ours has furnished us with a new definition of a pessimist. He furnished it on Tuesday, when he dodged into the office between rain drops, lamenting that he had taken a valuable hour that morning to sprinkle his garden. And now look at the darn' thing! Rain all day, 'n all night! Gosh hang the weatherman! Strangely, it did not assuage his pique to point to the weather forecast on Monday, "probable showers." He's one of these chaps who never believes it until he sees it. It must be a costly and troublesome frame of mind, this "show me" attitude. Sprinkling the garden just before the rain begins is only a part of it for a person consistently so-minded. Such an one would never go fishing, because there was no certainty the fish would bite. He would hesitate to take an auto trip for fear of punctures. No doubt he wears suspenders with his belt. It's a sad life. One who has more faith has a lot better time, even allowing for his frequent disappointments. Taking a chance is the salt of life, and there is a tang about even such a simple sport as gambling on the weather man's hunch. For, after all, there is always the hose to fall back on if the weather man guessed wrong; there are few affairs of life irretrievably ruined by one wrong guess. James Graham shoved it to extremes, but there is a lot of truth nevertheless in his saying:

"He either fears his fate too much
Or his deserts are small,
That dares not put it to the touch,
To win or lose it all."

That's the stuff to give the troops.

Plain Savagery

AT Irwington, Georgia, has happened perhaps the most flagrant recent example of the iniquity of negro-lynching. A black, charged with attack on an aged white woman, was sentenced to death. His case was appealed, and lost. The supreme court affirmed the conviction and ordered him sentenced to death again. He was brought back to the county from which he had been removed to prevent mob action, to be sentenced and executed. And a riotous mob stormed the jail, two people being shot, took him out with a rope around his neck, and disappeared with him. At this writing his fate is not known, but there is no doubt he was killed, and probably not without torture. There was here no question of a guilty man's escaping retribution. The man had been convicted, twice. He was awaiting legal execution when the mob broke into his cell and dragged him out. There was no excuse of outraged justice to be made. It was simply a case of crazy blood-lust, of savage ferocity not less incompatible with civilization and government than is alleged against the black race in the excuses made for lynch mobs.

Divinity

SISTER RHODA, a nun, when the liner Egypt went down, refused a place in a life-boat. "Give it to another," she said, and as the boat pulled away from the doomed vessel she was seen on her knees, awaiting the end. There are stories of similar sacrifices and heroisms, well authenticated, in every disaster, as well as occasional stories of panic and cowardice. The Titanic, the Lusitania, and innumerable of the ships sunk in the war-zone by submarines, left behind them incidents of stout-hearted courage and unselfishness that illuminate the sadness of the circumstances with an immortal glow. In times of stress there is a quality of divinity about humanity, and it is found among all sorts of people. A nun, a stoker, a business man, a stripling—all have left behind them in incidents of fearful tragedy the imperishable recollection of true courage and sacrifice for others. Materialists, atheists, class men as merely a higher order of beast, but it is not so. Beasts have not within them the higher power that triumphs over even the most imperative instinct of the flesh. Mankind is of poor enough quality, normally, perhaps. He is a creature of prejudice and passion and greed. But there is a spark in him that is fanned by emergency to consume the earthiness of his daily existence, and at the end even the least noted of the race can and will die nobly.

Soda-Fountains

HOW much do you spend at the soda-fountains, which are beginning to hiss loudly, getting in training for the rush season of hot weather? The country's 100,000 soda-fountains this year will take a billion dollars of the people's money, according to trade estimates. It seems an enormous sum. The nation's booze bill, however, was two and a quarter times as much in 1914.

Alice in the Subway

(By JANE OSBORN)

He was the kind of man who seemed to be holding a continual competition for the "prettiest girl" or "the most beautiful girl." In this competition he was sole judge and the contestants were girls he chanced to meet or to see anywhere. When he went into a restaurant where women served he cast his eyes about to find the girl who, in his opinion, was the prettiest. Then he took a seat at a table that seemed to be in her zone. After a dance he could tell from which of the girls was the prettiest, which the most beautiful. In the office of a friend he would look about in search of the best-looking stenographer. It seemed to be a game that interested him immensely and that made even a ride in a crowded subway car something of an adventure.

Thus he was engaged one afternoon when the offices of the business section had just poured forth their thousands of young women to make their way homeward. This time the targets were awarded without delay. The girl who stood opposite him in the vestibule of the subway car was so fresh of face, so gracefully proportioned, so brown of eye and gold of hair that she won with flying colors. In fact she was probably the prettiest girl he had ever seen in a subway train. In fact she was perhaps the prettiest girl he—

Then the surprising thing happened. The pretty girl, with quick color coming to her cheeks, stepped over to him with hand outstretched. "You're John Lawrence, aren't you?" she said with perfect conviction. "I haven't seen you for ten years, I'm sure. Yet I know you in a flash."

It was surprising, because the girl didn't look at all like the girl who would respond so quickly to his look of searching interest. "You bet I am," John Lawrence's my name, all right."

"You don't remember me?" she asked with a little disappointment. "I remember your face—couldn't forget that," he assured. "But for the minute the name has slipped me."

"Alice," she reminded. "I used to sit in front of you in school. You used to walk home after school, too, and carry my books. And I used to call you Johnny to tease you, and you used to put the end of my braid in your ink well."

"So I did, so I did. You look just the same. Let's see, how many years ago was that?"

"Ten, wasn't it?" she figured. "We were fifteen then and we're twenty-five now. That's ten, isn't it?"

mistake before she left. Much as he admired his own personal appearance he could not believe that she could have looked at him as closely as she did and not realize that he was more than twenty-five.

Jim Kelly took the next day to drop in at the Harvard Club in town and find out there something of one John Lawrence. He found that he lived and operated, with his uncle, a factory, some sixty miles out of the city. The next day was Saturday and Jim had promised to take Kate Hickson, to whom he was then engaged, to the theater, but he made his excuses and took a 2 o'clock train to the home of the Lawrences.

He found John Lawrence, and was not flattered at having to consider himself his double. To be sure they were of the same build and coloring. Their features were similar, though John Lawrence looked his junior by ten years. But while Jim Kelly was the mirror of fashion, with affected sprightliness of manner, John Lawrence seemed indifferent of his appearance—was digging around some apple trees in his orchard in a pair of old army trousers when Jim called.

"I've come on a rather curious errand," he began in a grandiose manner. "You see, I happened to meet a little girl—a chance meeting, but we got rather well acquainted. The little girl seemed to take a fancy to me—asked me to call. She gave me her address written on a card and somehow I lost it. Now I didn't want to disappoint her. Being a man of resources I tried to work out what clues I had. She spoke of having gone to school with a John Lawrence—said that she thought we might be cousins because of a slight family resemblance. So I happened to be out here today and thought I'd drop around and get you to give me the little girl's address. I can't remember her last name, but her first name is Alice. She said she lived exactly where she did when she knew you. She said she hadn't thought of you once for ten years until something in my face reminded her distinctly of you."

Something in the last remark brought the color rising to John Lawrence's face. "You lie," were words very near his lips. He, John Lawrence, had thought of Alice many, many times and he could not believe that this little childhood sweetheart had never once thought of him.

"I thought you'd give me the address. I have to get in touch with her now so as not to disappoint her."

"You'll have to use your other senses, then," said John Lawrence. "And I wish you good afternoon."

Jim Kelly did not feel entirely thwarted by this rebuff, and two days later when he chanced to see the charming Alice in the subway

I breathed a melody into the air,
It fell to the earth, I know not where;
Except I know it was broadcast to Oshkosh, Louisville, Haraboo,
San Francisco and Alamazoo.
Heard by Kokomo, Kankakee,
And the passengers of a ship at sea,
Relayed onward to Singapore
And all the ports on the Indian shore,
Heard in Sydney and Liverpool,
Yokohama, Peking, Stamboul,
Christiana, Baffin's Bay,
Moscow, Cairo and Mandalay;
Sung by people in Kamerun,
Danced by dervishes in Rangoon,
And thence by radio stations hurried
Over and over the great round world:
Maybe they caught a few short bars
Up in Betelgeuse, Venus, Mars,
And various other well-known stars.
The ether throbbled and the music went
To the utmost ends of the firmament.
For I breathed a melody into the air,
And it still is traveling everywhere!

AGE AND THE MODERN YOUTH

When we find the children slipping away, excluding us from their pleasures, it's time to let them understand that we're far from being ready for the scrap heap.

The fact that children don't run to bring father's slippers as they used to doesn't mean any lack of consideration for the parent who has worked hard all day to support his family. I prefer to think the passing of this custom indicates a hope in the young mind that father hasn't yet reached the slippared age, but still has a stomach not wholly satisfied with warmed-over cabbage.

Slippers are the symbol, the outward and visible sign of approaching senility. Father would be a lot better off if he forsook the old armchair and took the family to a vaudeville show or a movie. When my fifteen-year-old son looks in on me when I'm shaving and asks, cheerfully, "How's the hero feeling this morning?" I am flattered. He doesn't mean to be impudent; he is merely greeting me as though I were a comrade of his own age.

I should certainly forfeit his confidence in my sense of humor if I put down the razor to tell him that in my youth children showed their parents more respect. I tried that for a year or two and it didn't work. My past is nothing to him; he finds the world as it is sufficient for all purposes, and if he can have the car this afternoon he'll be very much obliged!"—Meredith Nicholson in Harper's Magazine.

WATSON PRAISES HARDING RULE IN TALK TO HOOSIERS

Senator Sounds Keynote at State Convention of In-

HITS AT DEMOCRATS FOR THEIR "8 YEARS OF EXTRAVAGANCE"

No Apologist Needed for Present Regime Says Hoosier

INDIANAPOLIS. — Efficient and wise management of the nation's affairs, both domestic and international and substantial results in relieving "the evils of eight years of domestic misrule," were claimed of the Harding administration in an address here Wednesday by Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, before the Indiana republican state convention.

For years it has been the custom of Indiana republicans to have the keynote of the national campaigns sounded before them, and Senator Watson's speech, which was discussed in advance with President Harding, will be incorporated in the party literature for the congressional campaign this fall.

Senator Watson praised the executive, legislative and diplomatic record of the present administration and played the recent democratic administration as "debt-incurring, deficit-creating, bond issuing, surplus-scattering, factory-closing, industry-paralyzing, prosperity-destroying, social-upheaving and cataclysm-producing."

Hits at Democrats
"We are not responsible for all this waste," he declared. "We did not produce all this wreckage. We did not incur these debts. We have not piled up this mountain of obligations and those gentlemen who are responsible for all this riotous orgy of extravagance and all this upsetting of industry and unsettling of financial conditions, now stand and jeer at us because in fourteen months we have not overcome all the evil they produced in eight years."

"We have not yet accomplished all we have set out to do," he continued. "We have not cured all the ills and corrected all the mistakes and overcome all the evils of eight years of democratic misrule, but certainly we have taken long strides in the right direction and assuredly if the republican party cannot adjust matters what hope is there in turning to the organization that caused all the disaster in the beginning?"

Reduction of taxes and appropriations, reorganization of the shipping board, agricultural relief, the tariff bill and diplomacy of the present administration were emphasized by Senator Watson.

Faced Enormous Task
"This administration does not need an apologist," said Senator Watson. "No administration ever before came into power confronting such problems of such complexity and difficulty as those which were inherited by President Harding and the republican congress."

President Harding's call for the arms conference, he declared, was the largest step toward international peace with justice, the world has known in all its history, and the whole world applauded the results. The four-power treaty, the senator said, brought understanding and assurances for peace.

In domestic affairs, Senator Watson said, the Harding administration stood for full freedom in business and

For bordering large beds or for use in producing masses of blue, the dwarf lobelias cannot be beat among the annuals. They often prove failures because not enough care is used in planting the seed which is very fine and powdery. Planted in the open ground, only a small percentage of seed is likely to produce plants as it is easily washed out by the rains and the tiny plants are uprooted and destroyed just when germinating. It should be sown in boxes where it can be cared for and watered gently. There is no difficulty in raising a a recognition of the larger right of the individual to control and operate his own business affairs."

"The new freedom" preached by Woodrow Wilson was a grotesque travesty on the very name," he added. "while the enfranchisement of business under Harding is an accomplished fact."

Taxes Reduced

Citing the new and fixed charges from the war, Senator Watson said there could not be any great reduction in taxes for a decade or more, but he contended the republican party had kept its platform pledge to reduce taxes as far as possible consistent with government needs. This in part was possible, he said, by dismissal of more than 100,000 government employees in the last two years.

"They have not been getting rid of demagogues in some of the departments fast enough to suit me," he added. "I have been and am opposed to putting postmasters under civil service."

The pending tariff bill which he helped draft, was a prominent subject of the address. It would do much, he said, to restore business and prosperity. Protection, he added, had been a proven policy.

"This tariff," he added, "is not being made to please free traders. We did not formulate it to suit importers."

Soldier bonus legislation is assured "before the close of the present session," according to Senator Watson, who declares it would "involve no additional taxation and finally will be paid, by the use of bonds of our debtor nations."

Reduction in the railroad rates and wages must come he said, together with financial maintenance of the carriers, but he declared that railroad wages should not and would not return to pre-war levels. Discussing the shipping situation Senator Watson said there was gross waste by the past administration. He commended the reorganization work of Chairman Laefer of the shipping board, denounced the five per cent private operation contracts and advocated the administration ship subsidy proposal.

The calling of unemployment, labor and business conferences by President Harding was commended by Senator Watson, who said that Mr. Harding favored government by common counsel, and not the "autocracy" which he said had characterized the Wilson administration.

FARM BLOC WINS ITS FIGHT FOR FARMER ON RESERVE BOARD

House Passes Bill Providing for Six, Instead of Five, Members on Board

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Agricultural members of congress have won their fight for the enlargement of the membership of the federal reserve board to make possible the appointment of a "dirt farmer."

The house Tuesday passed the bill providing for six, instead of five, appointive members of the board. The bill was substantially the form in which it was passed by the senate several months ago.

House Orders New Member
Before passing the senate bill with a minor amendment, the house reported amendments from the banking and currency committee, which struck out the provision for enlarging the board and merely directed the president in making appointments to have due regard to representation of agriculture, as well as to finance, industry and commerce.

Ignores Mellon, Harding
In passing the bill enlarging the membership of the board the house went counter to the recommendations of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and W. P. G. Harding, governor of the board, both of whom appeared before the banking and currency committee in opposition to any increase in the number of members.

The house restored the senate provision prohibiting the creation of buildings by federal reserve banks at a cost of more than $250,000 without the sanction of congress.

METHODISTS PLAN SESSION TO DISCUSS "ECONOMIC ORDER"

Bishops, Ministers and Laymen in all Parts of Country to Participate

EVANSTON, Ill.—A conference on Christianity and the economic order to be held here May 23-24-25 has been called by a number of bishops, ministers and laymen of the Methodist Episcopal church. Bishop Francis J. McConnell of Pittsburgh, who has recently returned after making a religious and economic survey in China, will preside. The conference will be for discussion without executive power. It will include all points of view from laymen and clergymen regarding the economic order, those interested announced. The delegation will be limited to 200. Invitations have been sent to ministers and laymen in all parts of the country.

Among those who signed the call are Prof. George Albert Cox of Union Theological Seminary, New York; President Charles W. Flint of Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.; Prof. Harry F. Ward of New York; Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Chicago; Bishop W. O. Shepard of Portland, Ore.; James W. Kling, president of the Blacksmith union, Chicago; F. C. Edinger, banker, Oak Park, Ill. The following subjects will be discussed: "The Economic Order," "What is It?" "Christian Principles Affecting the Economic Order," "Competition," "What Forms are Christian and What is Christian?" "The Profit Motive—Its Place, Power and Value," "Justice, How Determined and Controlled," and "What Shall We Do About It?" Each speaker will be allotted thirty minutes; discussion will follow. The conference will issue no reports nor findings.

A Lover and His Lass
The London Telegraph. After sitting about over his tea, the youth suddenly blurted out:
"Can I go out tonight, mother, to see my lass?"
"Yes," said his mother grudgingly, "but come back in half an hour."
At the expiration of that time the youth returned.
"And did you see your sweet-heart?" asked his mother.
"Yes, mother, and she would have seen me, too, if I hadn't bobbed down behind the hedge!"

CROWS THE FATTEST CREATURES IN RUSS FAMINE DISTRICTS

Sufferers Willing to Eat Anything Else But Draw the Line at the Crow

RUZULUK, Samara Province, Russia.—By The Associated Press.—Eating crow seems literally to have been the one thing the famine-stricken peasants of the Volga have refused to do. During the worst periods of the hunger suffering, when cats, dogs, clay and even more ghastly food substitutes have been greedily devoured, the country has been full of big, black and gray crows.

So bold are these scavenger birds and apparently so unafraid by even the hungriest peasants, that some of them even perch upon and peck at meat supplies laden in sleds for transport from the railway stations to the villages.

Some of them may have been eaten, but the correspondent saw literally hundreds of them at every place his train stopped from Samara on the way to Orenburg.

They were the fattest creatures in the famine area.

Peasants with whom the correspondent talked on this apparent anomalous condition, in a region where one instance of cannibalism had been reported, admitted that crows might be as good to eat as dogs or cats, but advanced various vague reasons as to why these birds had not been slaughtered for food.

Some said there were no guns or ammunition to shoot them and that they were extremely hard to trap or catch. Others said they were "unclean."

DAUGHERTY REPLIES TO CHARGE MADE BY ARKANSAS SENATOR

Will Go Ahead With War Fraud Cases Without Regard to Caraway Attacks

WASHINGTON. — Declaring his conviction that the people of the U. S. "have confidence in the department of justice being fair, judicious and effective," Attorney General Daugherty in a formal statement said Wednesday that prosecution of war fraud cases would be carried out as expeditiously as possible, irrespective of attacks being made upon him in connection with the Morse affair.

The attorney general in a statement—his first direct reply to the charges made by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, and others, said:

"The correspondence of ex-President Taft and Attorney General Wickersham, which was again published this morning, really shows my connection with the Morse cases of many years ago, both civil and criminal. The incentive and motives inspiring this and other allegations will not accomplish the results hoped for by those behind the scenes."

Attorney General Daugherty was charged by Senator Caraway, speaking Wednesday in the senate, with having assigned secret service operatives to shadow members of congress.

The Arkansas senator declared Mr. Daugherty never had denied the charge recently made by H. L. Schafo, the discharged department of justice employee, that secret service men, including a negro coachman, had been ordered to follow members of congress. The senator added the statement that he knew of a witness who would "testify that secret service men are trailing members of the senate as well as spying on members of the house."

REDUCTIONS AVERAGE 10 PERCENT FOR NATION

Chairman McCord in his dissenting opinion, objected to the rate of reduction allowed and expressed the opinion that it should not exceed 5.5 per cent and that in any case the commission should not set a value at the present time.

In my judgment the general reductions now decreed, fall short of full attainment of the desired end," he added. "The present level of rates on basic articles should be materially reduced."

Commissioner Eastman said the decision should have been withheld to await action by the railroad labor board on pending applications for the reduction of wage scales.

Sentiment for it Unanimous

Commissioner Lewis, though dissenting, remarked that the "decision of the commission that rates be reduced is unanimous."

Commissioner Potter said that "during the early stages of our deliberations," it was his opinion that "so-called basic commodities" should be given preferential reductions, but that he had now developed, on further consideration, objections to such a course. The calculations as to the general percentage of reduction offered by the commission's decision were difficult to arrive at.

The statement by Commissioner Potter that they averaged generally 10 per cent was accepted, however, as correct by the commission's personnel and rate making experts generally.

Though the decision, as an instance, actually removes fourteen per cent from rates in eastern territory, the fourteen per cent is to be calculated on the basis of rates in effect before August, 1920. On August 25, 1920, they were increased 40 per cent and the result of the mathematical calculation gives approximately 10 per cent of existing rates as the reduction ordered in today's decision. Likewise in the western group, where increases of 35 per cent were authorized in 1920, the commission order reduced present rates by amounts that will make them finally 21.5 per cent above rates in effect before 1920. The calculation here as in other districts under the rate order actually works out to make ten per cent reductions in present rates.

"The support for finding that rates and charges should be reduced," Commissioner Potter in his concurring supplemental decision remarked, "is the belief that prospective revenues of carriers for the year commencing July 1, 1922, if under the existing rate basis would exceed a fair return by the amount involved in the reduction required."

Mr. Potter expressed conviction that "the forecast is justified by present prospects but that if it should be found unwarranted 'existing rates can be restored to the extent which then seems necessary.'"

Wall Street Relieved
NEW YORK.—Wall street Wednesday received with evident relief the news of the railroad freight rate reductions by the interstate commerce commission.

Most of the better railroad stocks were conspicuously strong at the opening. Gains running from substantial fractions to over a point were made by New York Central, New Haven, New York, Chicago and St. Louis, Alton, Pittsburgh and West Virginia, and Lake Erie and Western common and preferred.

NILS HAUGEN TAKES TAX REORGANIZATION POST IN MONTANA

MADISON, Wis.—Nils P. Haugen, for twenty years a member of the Wisconsin commission, Wednesday accepted an appointment as commissioner to the board of equalization of Montana. He will take up his new duties at Helena, Mont., next week.

Reorganization of the taxing system of that state is contemplated, according to Mr. Haugen, who will bring his experience as head of the Wisconsin tax system to the aid of the Montana board.

migrants coming to this country, many of them having false ideas of what they were coming to. These ideas were fostered by the agents of manufacturers and steamship companies, and it was then the foreigners became disillusioned that the real immigration problem began.

New York state was the first to pass a protective law for the immigrants in 1847, but its interest lapsed, and in 1874 it turned its burden over to the federal government. A series of laws followed, not any of which remedied the situation. The most important of all of these were the Immigration Law of 1917 and the three per cent clause of the Immigration Act of 1920.

The speaker flayed the three per cent clause as the most iniquitous legislation ever enacted, since it separated families, and prevented foreign born men now in the country from bringing their wives and children to America, thus reacting against the country since it deprived the immigrant of his most stabilizing influence.

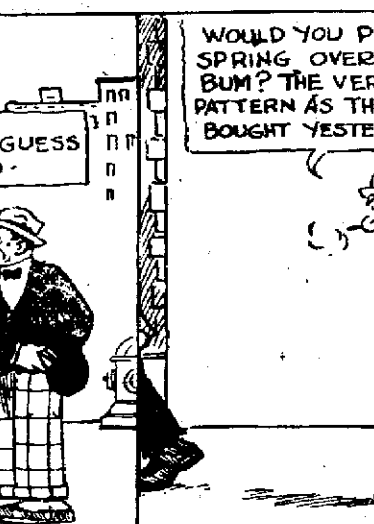

Reach Them in Homes
The public schools do a great work in Americanization, but they reach only the children. The night schools get some of the men, but practically none of the mothers. To get them, and to teach them American ideals, it is necessary to visit them in their homes.

All through her talk Miss Johnson stressed the fact that the immigrants are real human beings like the rest of us, not mere machines, as we are prone to treat them. She pointed out that without the foreigners, American industry would be at a standstill. Immigration is the most valuable thing we have today, she declared, and if we are not careful we will lose it. Other countries are making strong bids for the immigrant, and their own countries are loath to see them go.

She urged close co-operation between the American and foreign born business men and the spreading of a spirit of fellowship to the immigrant. This makes for his rapid assimilation into American life, where he is very much needed.

OVER TWO INCHES OF RAIN FALLS

It was the best little rain storm we have had this year. The weather bureau reported that 2.10 inches of rain fell between 9 o'clock Tuesday morning and 4 o'clock Wednesday morning. Three quarters of an inch of rain fell in 35 minutes between 2 and 3:35 this morning. Streets were flooded, storm sewers overflowed and water entered basements in the downtown district.

The river rose one-tenth of a foot during the night.

Country roads are in bad shape and autoists are advised to keep off dirt roads for a few days.

NORMAL SCHOOL SENIOR VODVIL-ON THURSDAY NIGHT

The annual senior vodvil to be presented Thursday night in the normal school auditorium has been the chief topic of interest at the school all this week. The tryouts, which were held Monday evening, showed that the stunt program to be put on this year is to be one of the best ever staged by the graduating classes.

The different organizations of the school each put on a different act, and the competition between them is very keen. The desire of each to have the best representation is one of the big factors which works for the success of the vodvil.

GENEVA.—The heat wave in the Alps region has broken a 50-year record for the month of May, the temperature at a number of points today being ninety degrees Fahrenheit. Snow and glaciers are melting rapidly.

94.1 in Paris

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—Paris today experienced the hottest May day in 116 years, the thermometer hitting 94.1 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade at 3:45 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The city was one of many European capitals to experience a similar heat wave that began sweeping western Europe five days ago.

The usually crowded streets were thinly peopled at noon and there were noticeably few women on the boulevards. The cafes and beer gardens, however, did a land office business.

SMALL JURORS PUT TO BED TOO EARLY; STRIKE THREATENED

WAUKEGAN, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—Trial of Gov. Small was halted a few moments Wednesday afternoon when the jury threatened to go on strike unless allowed to stay out late at night.

The jurors complained that their bailiffs, both elderly men, put them to bed at 9 p. m. and demanded that younger bailiffs be appointed to take the jurors out evenings.

Judge Edwards called a recess while he conferred with Sheriff Green and the attorneys for both sides in an effort to agree on younger bailiffs who could meet the jurors' demand for "more sporting blood."

State and defense could not agree on the men suggested and another conference will be held.

Consumption of Whiskey Has Fallen from 130 to 2 Million
Gallons Says Haynes

PLEA FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT
MADE BY ATTORNEY GENERAL

Opposes Attempt of Bringing Back Beer and Wine

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—"Prohibition in the United States is a success," this is the word brought to the Wisconsin law enforcement convention Wednesday by Roy P. Haynes, United States prohibition commissioner, after a thorough survey of the operation of the Volstead enforcement act over the past year.

"Consumption of American made bonded whiskey since prohibition has fallen from 130,000,000 gallons annually to about 2,000,000 gallons, which is perhaps 500,000 gallons in excess of medicinal requirements," Mr. Haynes said.

Out of the 500 breweries engaged in the manufacture of near beer, he reported 285 for law violation, 95 plants under seizure, 60 since last July 1. Over 10,000 convictions for violation of the prohibition law have been obtained during the last nine months, the commissioner declared.

"Wherein has prohibition failed," Mr. Haynes asked. "No one expected 100 per cent enforcement, and the cry of failure often arises from the very ones who have felt the force of the law."

Modification of the prohibition law to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer is an attempt at evasion of liquor law enforcement, Attorney General William J. Morgan and Wayne E. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, declared.

Attorney General Morgan expressed the opinion that "It would be impossible to imagine any single thing that would do more to break down the prohibition law than 'light wine and beer' while Mr. Wheeler asserted that the 'whole bootleg, rum-running, law defying army is concentrating for an attack upon the constitution by means of a beer and wine amendment."

Wisconsin will be the storm center of the fight upon prohibition to be waged during the present year, the anti-saloon league counsel told the delegates. "The same beer that made Milwaukee famous will," he said, "make this state infamous if its champions carry out the program of nullification."

Attorney General Morgan made a plea for law enforcement. He declared that until the people of this state and nation "look upon the violation of the prohibition law with the same contempt and abhorrence that they look upon the crimes against the person or property, such as assault or burglary, the moonshiner and boot-lagger are more insidious foes of government than the burglar or sneak thief."

Prohibition enforcement in Wisconsin under the Sevenson act is proving more and more effective as public sentiment insists upon suppression of the

SAGE TEA DANDY
TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age or youth. Gray-haired, unsattractive folks aren't wasted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Liquor traffic, speakers asserted Wednesday morning in addressing the convention.

Frank S. Symonds, district attorney of Kenosha county, told the convention that as a result of passage of the Sevenson law "there is now no legal reason or excuse for any district attorney not to enforce provisions of the eighteenth amendment by means of this law as a most effective weapon, which is simple and easy in its machinery and most effective in getting results."

His opinion was supported by Miss Mary Clarkson, president of the Milwaukee Federation of Church Women, J. P. Koeller of Oshkosh and R. N. Nelson, president of the Madison committee of 100 for prohibition enforcement, all of whom pointed out the progress made in suppressing the illegal sale and manufacture of intoxicants, and explained what they believed to be effective means of improving enforcement.

Normal Notes

The officers for the Normal School Oratorical association will be elected at a meeting to be held soon. Nominations are now being made for the various offices.

Friday the election of the officers of the newly organized Woman's Athletic association will be held. Helen Hall is the chairman in charge of the meeting.

The Physical Education club is planning a formal dancing party to be held in the large gymnasium on Saturday night of this week. No effort or expense is being spared in the attempt to make this one of the biggest and most elaborate social affairs of the school year. Over 225 invitations have been issued.

The first of the final examinations are being held this week.

Many students of the Normal school enjoyed the Junior Prom of the Onalaska high school last Friday night.

The preliminary showing of the cast of the Senior class play, "A Prince There Was," indicates that it is to be a great success. The play

An interesting suggestion has been offered concerning the source of the explosive gases in coal mines and the cause of their variation in quantity. In mining districts, it is pointed out,

WEIHAUPT-SAVAGE TAKE OVER AGENCY FOR MAXWELL CARS

Local Firm Makes Important
Addition to its Line of Automobiles

"Jack" Weihaup is again a distributor of Maxwell cars. Announcement that the Weihaup-Savage Auto Co., Inc., has taken over the agency for the Maxwell cars was one of the important developments of the week in local automobile circles.

Several years ago, when John G. Weihaup was starting in the automobile business in a little garage near the wagon bridge he took on the agency for the Maxwell cars, and sold over 1,300 machines in his territory. The war came on and when Jack went away to do his bit he turned his business over to other parties. After the war ended and he returned to La Crosse, Mr. Weihaup associated with him Myron D. Savage and bought back the old business, taking on the agency for the Cadillac and Buick cars. Now they have added to their line the "old love," the Maxwell, and the line is complete, they declare. The new Maxwell is a "bummer" the partners declare and the first carload was sold in jig time.

VIROQUA WOMAN IS FIRST OF SEX TO SEEK PUBLIC OFFICE

VIROQUA, Wis.—The following Vernon county citizens have announced their candidacies for office at the primary election, Tuesday, September 24: For the assembly, Attorney C. J. Smith, C. W. Powell and Sheriff Sam Gorsline; clerk of the circuit court, Miss Lue Gosling, A. T. Helgeson; county clerk, Berlie Moore; register of deeds, Paul T. Paulson; district attorney, J. A. Moon; A. Heinz; sheriff, Amos Kogel; Frank Rogers and Andrew Hoveland.

Miss Gosling is the first woman in the county to become a candidate for office. She is a daughter of the late Henry Gosling, who served as clerk of the court for several years and was his assistant during the latter years of his office.

CROP REPORT

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Synopsis of weather and crop conditions in Wisconsin for the week ending Tuesday, May 23:

Temperatures during the week were about normal, rainfall moderate to heavy except in some eastern counties where more rain is needed. Vegetation made good progress generally, but farm work was delayed in some extent. Spring grains, pastures and meadows are mostly very good to excellent, and are heading. Corn planting is general and the corn is coming up in the south. Early potatoes are coming up and late potatoes are being planted. Door County fruit trees are in bloom. Tobacco plants are doing well, cranberry vines are in good condition, and buds are swelling. Minor crops are doing well generally.

SECRET OF SPHINX
Calendar reformers say the sphinx was primarily to measure solar movements and compute astronomical data.

The sphinx, facing east, originally wore, at the rest of its forehead, the carved image of an asp. The asp's head, at sunrise, cast a shadow along the sphinx's body. From this shadow grooves were cut, and from these seasonal markings the Egyptians were able to work out their early calendars.

calendar reform, by getting our own year established on so scientific yet simple a plan, that other nations will adopt it on its merits.

The old Romans ran their year on the lunar basis. In 46 B. C., Sosigenes, an Egyptian astronomer, advised Julius Caesar to adopt his country's system, which allowed for twelve equal months of thirty days each, the odd five or six days as the case might be, being set apart at the end of the year for festive purposes.

Liked Odd Numbers
Julius did this, in principle, but being a believer in the luck of odd numbers, scattered the extra days among the various months alternately. Needing another day to complete this arrangement, he arbitrarily took the thirtieth day from February and gave it to November.

Later Augustus Caesar, apparently simply for the sake of change, altered Feb. 29 to Aug. 31, Sept. 31 to Oct. 31 and Nov. 31 to Dec. 31.

Until 321 A. D. the days of the month were only numbered, not divided into weekly periods. In that year Constantine the Great established the seven-day week, with the rest-giving Sunday, but the months, being unequal, were divided erratically by the week unit and under this overlapping, misfit system we have been getting along ever since.

Plans Even Dates
Schall's proposal is to divide the year into thirteen equal months of four weeks each. This would take care of 364 of the average year's 365 days. The extra day, which Schall would put at the end of the year, would be a national holiday, standing by itself and not as part of any week or month.

WOOD PARTY SAFE; DRIVEN INTO PORT BY HEAVY STORM

Yacht Located After Two Days
Unavailing Search by Wireless

MANILA, May 24.—By The Associated Press.—Leonard Wood, governor general of the Philippines, is safe after being missing thirty-six hours in the yacht Apo, following a typhoon, according to word received here early today. The yacht was reported to have taken refuge on an island near Mindoro, where the governor, accompanied by his wife and daughter, had gone Saturday on an inspection trip.

Since the typhoon, keen anxiety had been felt for the safety of Gen. Wood and his family. The Apo is a small yacht and vessels generally in the vicinity of the island of Mindoro were driven helplessly before the storm. For two days efforts to reach the Apo were unavailing.

The island behind which the Apo found haven is named Ilin. General Wood is expected to reach Manila Thursday.

Subsidy for the Country Doctor
The suggestion has been made that the government should subsidize the country doctor and furthermore that the government should see that every community should have its doctor, who should be also provided with a home and a hospital. The rewards of the country doctor are not great and his work is hard and the result is that wherever they find it possible they drift to the cities.

ITS AT THE USE OF GASOLINE FOR CLEANING PURPOSES

State Deputy Warns Citizens
Against Following "Suicide Advice" of Magazines

MADISON, Wis.—"Suicide advice" is the way the state oil department terms advertisements telling how gasoline may be used as a furniture polish for cleaning purposes, and to softening water. Chief Deputy A. O. Barton is calling the attention of the people of the state to the great dangers in the handling of gasoline by sending out a circular published by the state industrial commission.

"The man who uses a match to find out whether there is gasoline in his auto tank always finds enough to explode," declares the departmental warning. "The combination of gasoline in open vessels to clean auto parts, of fumes ever present in a garage and the inveterate cigarette fiend actually cause a number of garage fires."

"In these days of equality the ladies will not be outdone by mere man in carelessness. They will wash their waists, ties and fabrics in gasoline in an open dish. The mere rubbing will often generate enough electricity to cause an explosion."

"Advertisements and magazine articles advise mixing gasoline with kerosene, borax, ammonia, etc., for cleaning clothes, fabrics, rugs and other things. A recent article advises spraying the closets with benzine to get rid of moths, and mixing crude oil and benzine for 'fine furniture polish' all fool-killing advice. We are hardly able to keep up with this suicide advice and combatting it."

"To start or quicken a fire kerosene is used, and the coroner's conclusion then is 'mistaken gasoline for kerosene,' not realizing that no such mistake is necessary. Kerosene is quite liable to explode if any fire or live coals are left in the fire pot. Gasoline should be defined as a petroleum product more powerful than dynamite, as sure to explode as nitro-glycerine, as deadly as cyanide of potassium, as insupportable looking as water, never fool-proof or danger free; to be stored under ground and used outdoors."

MILWAUKEE MAN IS MADE OIL INSPECTOR
FOR NEW DISTRICT

MADISON, Wis.—Captain Henry W. Biegel, Milwaukee, was appointed on Wednesday as deputy state oil inspector by State Inspector T. J. Cunningham with the approval of Governor Blaine. Capt. Biegel will take charge of the newly created district including all of Milwaukee county outside of the city limits of Milwaukee. Captain Biegel is a veteran of the world war.

The oil department announced at the same time that every effort is being made to protect the public in placing state test signs and placards at filling stations. At some stations three or four pumps with different grades of gasoline are found side by side and in order that the purchasing public may be protected such pumps must be properly labeled as to the quality of gasoline they contain.

A DEAD BEAT

An invalid who had spent a long time over his convalescence in a hospital, where he was extremely comfortable, was warned that soon he would have to be removed. So he concocted a plan by which his retention in such pleasant surroundings could be secured.

While his temperature was being taken and the nurse's attention was centered on the next patient, he removed the thermometer from his mouth and rubbed it hard on his sleeve.

The nurse, returning to him looked at the thermometer, murmured, "Poor fellow," and went to report. Later she returned and announced that the patient would have to leave that day.

"But, nurse," protested the man, "my temperature was up again this morning."

In a sweet voice nurse answered, "Yes, that's right; up to 140. That's why they're removing you; you're dead."—Milwaukee Telegram.

YOU HAVEN'T SEEN THIS SINCE 1901!

"See anything unusual about the picture above?"

It shows President Harding, Mrs. Harding and Secretary of State Hughes and was taken while the trio was enjoying a baseball game at Washington.

No? Look again! It's the first time in 21 years that such a picture has been obtainable.

The reason? President Harding is the first chief executive who smoked since the days of President McKinley. And that was back in 1901.

President Harding is a dyed-in-the-wool fan. The Washington players regard him as a real mascot. When they see the president in his box, they are always confident of victory. And usually get it.

At the opening game, when the president was the honor guest, the Senators won from the champion Yanks. Recently the Washington club hit a slump, losing seven straight. Evidently the president thought the team needed him, for the next day he was on the job. And Walter Johnson pitched the Nats to a 2 to 1 win over St. Louis.

The president is a great admirer of Johnson and always makes an effort to see the games Walter is slated to pitch.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—A trip through Fond du Lac and Winnebago counties during the past ten days has given rise to speculation as to why the people of those counties in the planting of ornamental trees have been so partial to the box alder. In this connection, and I think generally where any measure of care is given to the selection of trees, for lawns or roadsides the box alder is about as popular as the Canadian thistle. So far as experience in the vicinity of Madison is concerned there isn't a box alder over ten years of age that is at all attractive or slightly. It would seem as if two counties as closely related as Winnebago and Fond du Lac to the wood-producing areas of the north would have selected more durable and more slightly trees than the box alder. Around and in the otherwise attractive court house parks of the two counties the principal trees are the box alder. As they have had to be trimmed in Fond du Lac these trees are very suggestive of Dore's illustrations of the Inferno of Dante.

The one attractive quality the box alder has as a tree to be cultivated is that it is a quick grower. In this respect it is fully the equal of the Carolina poplar. Aside from evergreens, such as cedar, spruce, balsam and the pine, there are four species of trees that excel all others for lawns, parks or street decoration in this latitude. In the order of their excellence they are the elm, basswood, hard maple and the black walnut. If given the opportunity all of these grow symmetrically, and they withstand cool drought and excessive cold. Properly planted and cared for any one of these will become a large and beautiful shade tree in twenty-five years.

In the southern portion of Fond du Lac county and in Dane and Jefferson counties one can almost accurately point out where the early immigrants from New York state and New England settled by the hard maples and the spruce trees still growing. Those early farmers from the eastern states seemed to have a marked fondness for the sugar or hard maple.

To come back to my text: It is not too late yet for both Fond du Lac and Oshkosh to begin replacing the warped and gnarled box alders with more slightly and more durable and useful trees.

On May 16 in Milwaukee the attorneys for the Chamber of Commerce of Menominee, Mich., made application to Federal Judge F. A. Geiger of the United States circuit court for a permanent injunction restraining the railroad operating in Wisconsin from charging for the transportation of coal intrastate in Wisconsin the rates promulgated in the order of the railroad commission of April 8 and effective on May 10; and further asking the court to restrain the railroad commission of Wisconsin and the attorney general from enforcing the order. The allegation in the complaint is that the new rates are a burden upon interstate commerce, in that they discriminate against the dock operators at Menominee, who must pay the higher interstate rates for the transportation of coal to Wisconsin points. Judge Geiger has set Saturday, May 2, for hearing arguments on the petition.

The outcome of this sale will be watched with interest by people interested in transportation affairs. So far as is known it is the first time since the transportation act of 1920 became effective that effort has been made to restrain the enforcement of a state commission order without first having had the question of discrimination determined by the interstate commerce commission. In other words, it is put up to the court to rule on the discrimination question before the highest transportation tribunal in the country has passed upon it. Comment among traffic men is to the effect that the likely procedure would have been to ask a temporary injunction pending the determination of the discrimination matter by the interstate commerce commission.

The state board of health has issued notice that employees of creameries who are infected with tuberculosis and come in contact in any way with the food products must be withdrawn from such employment.

The people of Rhineland are getting worked up over the failure of the normal school board to take the preliminary steps as prescribed by the legislature of 1921, for locating a normal school in their city. They are considering the advisability of starting mandamus proceedings against the board of regents but have been advised by the attorney general that a mandamus would not be obtainable if the money for carrying on the work were not obtainable.

The director of the state board of vocational education has been advised by the attorney general that refusal of girls under 18 and boys under 17 to obey the compulsory education law constitutes delinquency and violation may be proceeded against in juvenile court by the district attorney, while the statutes in relation to delinquent children may be called into operation by any resident by the filing of a petition with the juvenile court.

Chinese Like American Movies
Despite the efforts of Germany and England to popularize their own particular products in the moving picture line, the Chinese are particularly fond of the American reels and they have a particular weakness for those of the "slap-stick" variety.

The pictures are shown just as they are shown in this country and for the benefit of the spectators the titles and sub-titles are translated by an attendant. There are a hundred movie houses in China and Shanghai with 20 in the city which has the greatest number.

The Thrifty Citizen Who Caught the Plugged Nickel

MR. BROWN had swallowed his lunch and had paid his bill. Cautiously he counted his change. "Here!" he said, sharply, "Take back this plugged nickel and give me a good one!"

Mr. Brown walked proudly out. They couldn't fool old Brown.

But old Brown had fooled himself.

Brown's day was heavy and dull. He lacked "pep." There was a mid-afternoon drowsy spell when he needed to be awake—the direct and natural result of heavy, starchy breakfasts and lunches, taken on faith and without question as to value—just because the food looked and tasted like food.

Thousands of shrewd business men who count their change, take their food for granted.

That's what builds up the sanitation business, and puts the tired "all-done" feeling into the mid-afternoon of a business day.

Good Felt—The Foundation Of Good Roofing

On the quality of felt used in asphalt roofing depends its life; as surely as the security of a house depends on the strength of its foundation.

Flex-A-Tile Roofing is built around a base of Richardson felt—uniform in quality and even in texture. Since 1863 The Richardson Company has specialized in the manufacture of fine roofing felt.

This fabric is asphalt-saturated, then perfectly waterproofed by a thick coating of scientifically tempered natural asphalt on both sides.

FLEX-A-TILE
HOUSE TOPS

When you buy Flex-A-Tile Roofing you buy strength, long life, weather-proof shelter and the beauty demanded for the roof you call "home."

And you'll find that Flex-A-Tile runs the same "all the way through," in a single unit or a car-load lot. It is manufactured to gauge, without hidden flaws. Richardson methods at every step, from raw rags to the finished product, take care of that.

You can lay a Flex-A-Tile roof over old shingling or new sheathing. It will lie flat and stay flat.

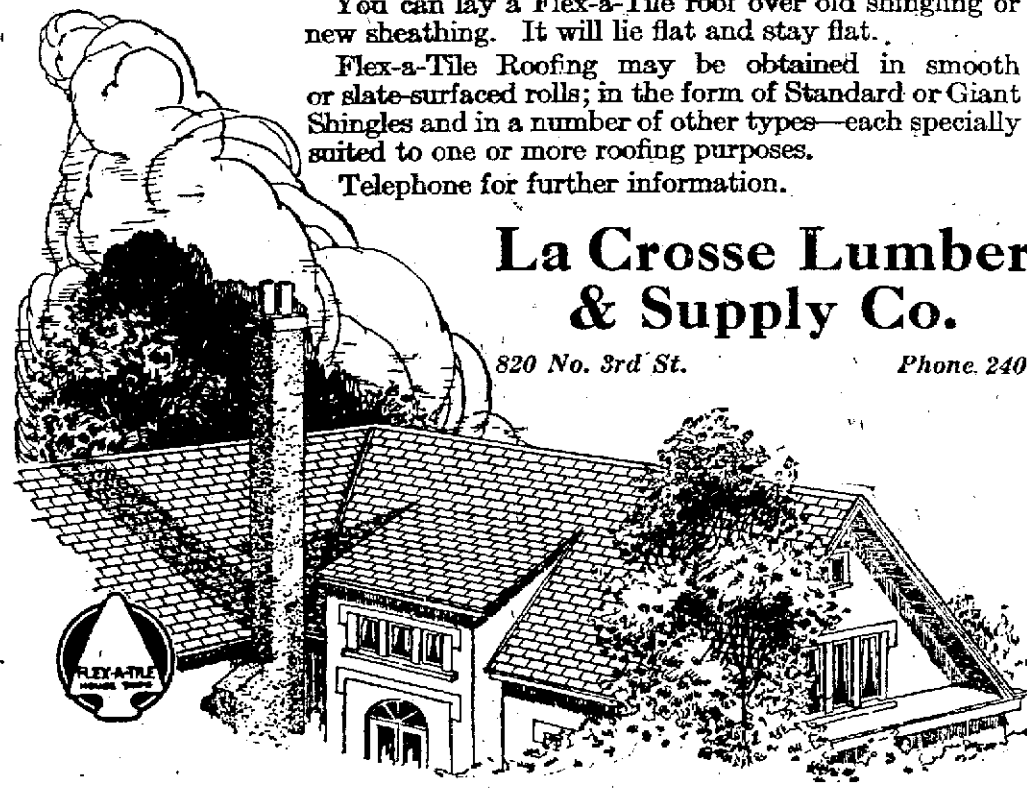

Flex-A-Tile Roofing may be obtained in smooth or slate-surfaced rolls; in the form of Standard or Giant Shingles and in a number of other types—each specially suited to one or more roofing purposes.

NATION WANTS DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT SPEAKERS ASSERT

Head of W. C. T. U. and Two
Congressmen Talk at Law Enforcement Convention

WHOLE WORLD WATCHES U. S.
EXPERIMENT SAYS WOMAN

Citizens Obligated to Assist Enforcement Officials

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The people of the United States and Congress are determined that enforcement of the prohibition amendment to the constitution shall not be modified to permit the return of light wines and beer, speakers told the Wisconsin law enforcement convention of the Anti-Saloon league at its meeting here Tuesday night.

Addresses were made by Anna A. Gordon, national president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Congressman A. P. Nelson of Wisconsin and Congressman A. W. Barkley of Kentucky, all stressing the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment which they say will never be repealed.

Miss Gordon suggested that women "should use the gentle art of conversation in which women excel," to aid in opposing attempts to modify the enforcement law. She said that "an unescapable obligation rests upon every law-abiding citizen gravely to cooperate with enforcement officials, attend court sessions, work for the election regardless of party of candidates who believe in prohibition and its enforcement."

"The United States is a prohibition laboratory with all the world watching its experiment," she declared. "They will judge prohibition by the brand that is labeled 'made in America,' and to enlighten the family of nations this country must hold aloft a torch of well enforced successful prohibition law."

Congressman Nelson of the eleventh Wisconsin district declared after outlining the plans of the Association against the prohibition amendment to secure its repeal that "the eighteenth amendment will never be repealed, as admitted even by the strongest opponents of the prohibition law."

"The only issue," he said, "is whether it shall be enforced or nullified. The American people are determined that it shall be enforced. The agitation for the return for light wines and beer is another plea for the return of the saloon and the resurrection of King Bacchus from his chilly grave."

"The American people and the American Congress will stand by the edict of the majority and meet the issue. Nullification of the laws will never be tolerated, for it would ultimately spell anarchy, tyranny and chaos. Only selfish greed, corrupt politics and misguided thought will ever plead for the return of the American saloon or the nullification of the prohibition laws."

"Those who denounce themselves that the American people will see the eighteenth amendment nullified by the bootleggers and their more respectable and polished mouthpieces might as well prepare themselves for another rude awakening," Congressman A. W. Barkley, Kentucky told the convention.

"Those who advocate the legal manufacture or sale of wine and beer under the constitution are advocating the open violation of the constitution, however much they may attempt to solve it over with attractive phraseology," he said.

"It is not true that the law cannot be enforced. It is not true it is too drastic. The simple truth is that all things considered, the eighteenth amendment is being enforced with as great a degree of success as many other laws on the statutes, and its success would be even greater if those who are now boasting that it cannot be enforced would devote half their energies to observing it themselves and helping to persuade others to do so."

"The Volstead law is drastic. It had to be drastic because the violators with whom it was meant to deal are a drastic crowd."

The Reason
"Papa," asked little Willie, "why do they call it the mother-tongue?" "Well," answered father, "just see who uses it the most."—Bowdoin Bearskin.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

MINNESOTA FARM SCHOOL TO LOCATE FARM AT CALEDONIA

CALEDONIA, Minn.—It has been definitely decided to locate a ten-acre experimental field near here, the State College of Agriculture making the decision. The Farm Bureau board and the Caledonia Commercial Club have been and are greatly in favor of the move and urge an early selection of the site. It will be located upon a prominent roadside where passersby can see it. One of the main features will be an effort to determine the effect of limestone upon legumes raised in this state, especially alfalfa, of which six acres will be planted; also some common clover and some annual and bi-annual sweet clover. Acid phosphate, gypsum or land-plaster and potash will also be tried out and it is expected to find that the addition of mineral fertilizers to the soil will balance up the plant-food so that the grain or straw will better bear the weight of the grains.

JACKSON APPROVES PLAN TO ABOLISH TAX-EXEMPT BONDS

Badger Rate Commissioner Declares Policy Serves to Build up Privileged Class

ACTS TO DEPRIVE INDUSTRY
OF THE NECESSARY CAPITAL

Amendment to Constitution
Now Pending in Congress

MADISON, Wis.—That every industry in the country is being deprived of capital as the result of the issuance of tax exempt securities and that the next amendment to the Constitution will be one revoking this tax exempt policy was the statement of Wednesday of Chairman Carl D. Jackson of the state railroad commission upon his return from Washington. Mr. Jackson declared that a regulation now pending in Congress will be undoubtedly passed and that the next legislature would be asked to vote on a constitutional amendment to abolish the tax-exempt policy that is rapidly building up in this country a tax-free privileged class.

Congress will unquestionably pass the necessary resolution for the constitutional amendment doing away with future issues of tax exempt securities," declared Mr. Jackson. "Unconsciously and without knowing the effects of the tax exempt policy, we are rapidly building up in this country a tax-free privileged class. Tax-exemption is not only economically unsound, it is un-American and undemocratic, and wholly foreign to our institutions."

The present federal tax laws must necessarily handicap the securing of capital upon the most reasonable rates of interest, but the issuance of tax-exempt securities has deprived every industry, including the public utility industry, of a very important source of capital, and such capital as is now thus secured from the individual investor is generally secured on onerous terms."

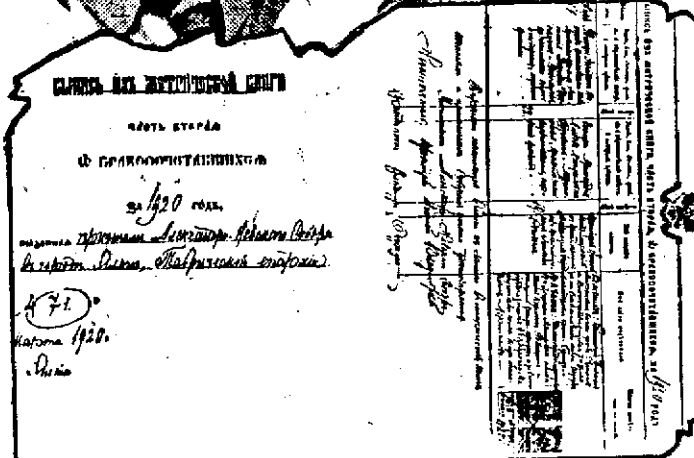

Mr. Jackson said that the amount of tax-exempt securities is now estimated by Secretary Mellon at $10,000,000,000 and that the largest proportion consists of municipal or state obligations.

It was demonstrated in the hearing before the House committee that any added advantage in interest rates to the municipalities or states from tax-exempt securities was far more than offset in losses in taxes," continued Mr. Jackson. "The municipality or state does indeed probably make some saving in the interest rate. The advantage is small and even questionable. There is no question, however, that the wealthy holder of the tax-exempt securities is getting the full advantage of his exemption, an advantage very considerably greater than any saving to state or government in interest.

"This can mean only one thing—an additional tax burden on every householder, farmer and tax-paying producer in the United States. That the investors with larger incomes are rapidly turning to tax-exempt securities is demonstrated clearly by government figures showing a decline in taxable income of those having incomes exceeding $300,000 from $708,000,000 in 1916 to $314,000,000 in 1919. The taxable incomes from interest for the same class have fallen from $165,000,000 to $60,000,000 in 1919. Large decreases in taxable incomes are shown for the smaller income, showing beyond doubt the progressive investment in tax-exempt securities. Capital in large amounts is being withdrawn from productive industry of every kind."

Ninety-eight and three tenths per cent of the population of Washington, D. C., uses electric lights.

A CHASM BETWEEN THE CLASSES

The land of Rumania is as rich as any in the world, so that this small kingdom stands fifth among the nations for wheat and fifth for wine. Rumania has twenty million acres. Some ten million acres are divided into little peasant holdings are less than ten acres each some ten millions into great estates averaging over two thousand acres, worked by laborers not far from serfdom, while the owners spend their money lavishly in Bucharest or Paris. So it comes that in no other country in Europe is the chasm so wide between the few very wealthy landowners—less than five thousands families—and the great bulk of people who till the soil.

Cuba has 2,360 miles of railway lines.

PLAY SCORES BIG AT ST. JOSEPH'S HALL LAST NIGHT

The play "For The Love of Johnny" staged last evening at the St. Joseph's Hall by the Players of St. Joseph's Cathedral was a marked success particularly from the dramatic angle.

Emma Preiser as Mrs. Banks the sharp-tongued, unscrupulous, wife of the apparent owner of "Traveler's Rest" ranch carried with remarkable ability and many favorable comments on her interpretive power were heard, while Bernard Solter as the weak-willed, henpecked ranch-owner also succeeded very well. Leo Mueller, as Father Ryan the central figure in the production, played his part with a native ease that counted heavily in making the play the success it was.

Berenice Kenney and Leonard E. Vost as Ethel Banks and Dick Wayburn and Margaret Haun as Dorothy Banks assisted more than a little in contributing to the play's success as also did Buck Birnbaum as Johnny Banks.

Ray Weber in the role of Phil Osborne the 200 pound "love-sick puppy," as Mrs. Banks called him, kept the audience in laughter every minute he was on the stage. John Turkey-legs the solemn, stoical Indian as impersonated by Bernard Senske succeeded very well in interpreting a somewhat difficult part and also succeeded in arousing a few chuckles from the audience.

Taken as a whole the play was a wonderful success due perhaps as much to the spirit of cooperation existing between the members of the cast and the director as to the dramatic ability of the characters.

The play will again be presented tonight at 8 o'clock.

Indians Win as Uhle Survives Bad Inning

NEW YORK.—Williams' twelfth home run of the season, coming with two men on base in the seventh inning, broke a tie score and enabled St. Louis to defeat the New York Yankees in the last game of the series, 11 to 3. O'Doul then relieved Mays, and St. Louis scored at will on the young left hander. Shocker won his second victory of the series, though he was hit fairly hard in the early innings. Baker hit a home run, triple and single and was responsible for all three New York runs. Score: St. Louis.....000 111 350—11 New York.....200 100 000—3 Shocker and Severid; O'Doul, Mays and Schang, Devermer.

COULD DO THAT, AT LEAST

In trying cases Judge Landis had a style all his own. Of all men he hated a liar most and some of his best shafts of wit were directed at men he caught lying on the stand. One of his best examples of ready wit occurred about twelve years ago, when he was sentencing a group of defendants for oleomargarine "moon-shining."

One defendant was a man past sixty years of age. "Your sentence," said the judge pointing his finger at the old man, "will be five years."

"Why—why, I can't serve that. I'll be dead before I can get through a sentence like that," declared the old man.

The judge leaned back for a second, then a twinkle appeared in his eye. "Well," he said, leaning forward confidentially, "well, perhaps you can't, but do the best you can, anyway."—La Crosse Weekly Review.

ROBINS CHASE JONES; BEAT CUBS AGAIN, 6-2

Bill Doak Loses First Game of Season, 8 to 6

CINCINNATI, Ohio.—Cincinnati made it three straight from New York in an exciting ten inning game on Tuesday, 6 to 5. Couch was not hit hard, but his passes proved costly. Toney was knocked out in the seventh. In the tenth Harper walked, Hargrave sacrificed and Caveney ended the game with a hit to center. Score: New York.....001 00 202 0—5 Cincinnati.....000 020 210 1—6 Batteries: Toney, Caveney, Shen and Smith; Snyder, Couch and Hargrave.

Robins, 6; Cubs, 2
CHICAGO, Ill.—Brooklyn drove Jones out of the box on Tuesday and with the aid of good pitching by Marmux, made a clean sweep of the three game series with Chicago by winning the final game, 6 to 2. Score: Brooklyn.....010 201 001—6 Chicago.....010 001 000—2 Batteries: Marmux and Delany; Osborne, Kaufman, Jones and O'Farrell.

Braves, 6; Cards, 6
ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Doak of the Cardinals lost his first game of the season on Tuesday, 8 to 6, to the Boston Braves, due to errors of his mates in the fifth inning. Hornsby scored his ninth home run of the year and is now three behind Williams of the St. Louis Americans and eight ahead of Babe Ruth, the home run king. Base on balls and errors played an important part in the run making. It was the Braves' third successive victory here. The score: Boston.....005 020 010—8 St. Louis.....000 003 300—6 Batteries: Watson, Fillingim and O'Neill; Gowdy; Doak, Haines, Walker, Bailey, Barfoot, Sherdel and Clemens.

UNDEFEATED TEAMS CLASH WHEN LOCAL NORMAL MEETS RIVER FALLS HERE FRIDAY

THE La Crosse normal baseball team will perhaps meet its strongest opponent here Friday afternoon when River Falls comes undefeated from the north to test the caliber of the local aggregation at Normal field.

Among the foremost clubs which have been defeated by River Falls are Dunwoody Institute, 8 to 1. Luther Seminary, 7 to 0 and St. Mary's college, 5 to 4. In addition to its clean slate this year, River Falls boasts an enviable record for the last three years, having been defeated twice during that time.

Against the undefeated record of the northerners the local aggregation is sticking up a similar record. Bangor, Trempealeau, St. Mary's and Luther college have all been turned back in games to date, and the defeat of the latter carries some weight in view of its victory over the university of Minnesota.

When it was announced that the game here Friday will not start until 3:45 it is expected that the bleachers on either side of the field will be filled with spectators to watch the two undefeated teams fight it out. Schultz, Gunderson and Stoneman, whom fans have seen perform at Copeland park, will be in the harness Friday.

Greb Defeats Tunney In 15 Round Match

NEW YORK.—Harry Greb Wednesday was holder of the American light-heavyweight title as a result of his victory Tuesday night in fifteen rounds with Gene Tunney of this city. And now Harry wants to meet Georges Carpentier for the world title.

WISCONSIN NINE GIVES MAROONS 9-6 LACING

CHICAGO, Ill.—Wisconsin defeated the Maroons, 9 to 6, in a listless game at Stagg field Tuesday. Chicago furnished a thrill by a sensational four-run comeback in the ninth when the score was 9 to 2. Four hits and Badger's poor fielding made the rally possible.

Dixon, occupying the mound for the Maroons, opened auspiciously by turning his opponents down one, two three in the first session, but in the following stanzas he allowed hits and walks galore.

SPORT BRIEFS

NEW YORK.—Benjamin Bloek, owner of Morvich, winner of the Kentucky Derby, denied reports that a special $50,000 race between Morvich and Senning Park, handspan horse of the Westmont stable, would be held.

JEAREZ, Mex.—Lee Anderson, negro light-heavyweight champion of the world knocked out Ben Miller of Oklahoma City in the second round of a fifteen round match.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—J. H. Herman, manager for Stanislaus Zbyszko, former heavyweight champion, offered $20,000 or the entire gate receipts for a finish match.

DIXIE CARROLL

A FREEBOOTER

The musky is a solitary fellow. He doesn't make any friends, just lies around waiting for a piece of food to go swimming by, then he makes a lightning like dart, snaps his powerful jaws shut on his victim and swims back to his station and gorges the eaters, ready in a minute to take another foray. He always strikes a fish or lure sideways, and there is no special time when he is feeding, fact is he seems to be hungry all the time. He is more active from eight to eleven in the morning and from four until dark. When the water is slightly roughened by the wind and breaking in small waves or an overcast day, makes good musky weather, but he may surprise you and strike your lure while you are trolling into short to make a landing for the noonday lunch.

Musky fishing is very good in June, unless the season is extremely cold and backward. Towards the tail end of July it slows up considerably, while August is the poorest month for the big chief. During "dog days" his teeth are in poor shape and you can hardly coax a strike out of him unless he feels so down in the mouth and mean that he strikes from pure cussedness. Like a snake shedding its skin and the deer its horns, the musky loses its teeth in August, but nature packs in a new set by the first of September and the old boy is in a fine fighting humor for that month.

By far the best musky fishing is to be had in September and October, when the chill night air seems to fill them with an extra supply of pep for the food hunt the next day. Even up into November is not too late for the big ones, but for downright good musky fishing it is hard to beat September and October.

In casting for the musky keep the boat about 50 feet off the casting waters, moving the boat as noiselessly as possible and casting in towards the shore or feeding grounds. (Copyright, 1922, Stewart Kidd Co.)

Chimpanzee Birth Rate in America
Only two chimpanzees are known to have been born in captivity. The first was in Cuba in 1915, the second in New York in the summer of 1920. The latter, at birth, was sixteen inches long, weighed three pounds and was nearly hairless. It lived only a few days.

The early name of Boston was Tremont. The discovery of trichina occurred in 1835.

Single-Six Seven Passenger Touring

NO one who reacts to aristocratic atmosphere in a motor car, can well remain unresponsive to this new Packard Single-Six.

You will find it not merely true to Packard tradition, but carried beyond, to new heights of taste and beauty in embellishment.

Here is not alone the exquisite environment and positive performance of Packard, but a greater emphasis of value than a truly fine car has ever accomplished before.

Packard mastery of high class production has culminated in an economic, as well as an artistic and engineering triumph, of the first order.

The price of the new Single-Six five passenger touring is $2485 at Detroit. The new price of the Twin-Six touring is $3630 at Detroit.

SEEK FURTHER LIGHT ON CONFESSION OF YOUNG MILLIONAIRE

Postpone Inquest into Peters Shooting Until Obscure Details are Cleared up

CLAIM DEAD MAN WAS IN WARD HOME NIGHT BEFORE HIS DEATH

Can't Exonerate Ward Before Whole Story is Told

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—Coroner Fitzgerald has postponed the inquest into the killing of Clarence Peters, described by Walter S. Ward, millionaire baking company official, as one of a blackmailing trio. Ward characterized Peters as a blackmailer in his confession of shooting the former sailor near Kensico reservoir, a week ago.

The inquest has been put off until the coroner's investigators can clear up several points in the Ward confession, with which Mr. Fitzgerald is far from satisfied.

The police have been told by C. W. Eckhardt, owner of an estate bordering King's Road, where Peters' body was discovered, by William Griggs and Richard Short, that no bullet wound was found until they had opened the coat and vest which were part of the clothing. Griggs and Short also told the police that only the shirt and under-shirt showed evidence that a bullet had pierced them.

The men also declared that traces of only one car were found at the spot.

Another contradiction which officials insist must be cleared up is the failure to find but one empty shell near the body although Ward declares that nine shots were fired.

The New Rochelle police have further complicated matters by insisting that Peters, who was shot on the morning of May 16, was in Ward's house the night before during a card game.

The authorities are said to be doing everything in their power to locate the missing "Ross" and "Jack."

COMMUTER HAS GREAT IDEA

The commuter was shivering. An icy blast had chilled him through when he got out of bed to close the window and, although he was about to start himself at the breakfast table, his teeth chattered at the thought of the cold walk he must take to get the $10.

Suddenly a brilliant idea struck him. He dashed into the hall, rescued a soft hat from the hat rack and, slipping into the living room, turned on the electric lamp and dropped his hat over it.

His better half, who had been regarding him with amazement, but who had been married long enough to know not to ask questions in the middle of her husband's brilliant scheme, stepped to the door of the living room and smiled.

"Come on, dear," she pleaded. "You're late now and I've got the boiler muffs."

"Fine," was the response. "Suppose you wonder what's the big idea. Well, you know, when a man is cold he puts on his hat. I've improved on that. Got my hat on the lamp warming. The leather band inside is always so cold these mornings."

ALL HE GOT

Two tramps approached a likely looking dwelling on the country road and tossed up with their last half-penny which of the two should call there and solicit alms.

One waited at the entrance gate, and the other walked up the drive toward the hall door. In a few seconds the latter reappeared.

"Well, did he give you anything?" asked his expectant companion eagerly.

"Oh, yes," was the reply. "He had a bulldog by the hand, and he gave me one minute to leave his garden. And here I am."—Scottsman.

He Made it Plain

"So you want to marry my daughter," said Mr. Cumrox.

"Yes," replied the young man. "I hope to hear you say take her and be happy."

"No, sir. I'm not going to shoulder any implied responsibilities. All I am going to say is 'take her.'"—Milwaukee Telegram.

PUGILIST IS LAID IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY

Westminster Abbey, which is the resting place of numberless royalty and distinguished persons, is also the receptacle of the remains of a famous pugilist, John Broughton, who was a champion about 150 years ago. It has been said, however, that it was his record as a man of the guard which brought him this distinguished honor and not his fistie prowess.

There is a tombstone to his memory erected in Lambeth church cemetery and many persons supposed that his body was interred there, but recent investigation of the records show that his body was placed in a tomb in Westminster on January 21, 1789.

NEW NAMES FOR OLD NIGHTMARES

There are more fads and fancies in the realm of education than anywhere else. Every educator has his own ideas as to how teaching should be done and proceeds to put them into force as soon as he is in a position to do so. Engineers and business men at Dayton, Ohio, recently forced themselves into a commission for the purpose of revising the educational methods of that city and they have succeeded to a certain extent in revolutionizing the processes. The greatest innovation has been the effort to make old-time nightmares attractive by giving them new names. History is called Opinion Forming. Grammar is Thought Expression. There are also Body Forming, Wealth Production and Society Serving.

FRAUD IS ALLEGED IN TRACTOR PLANT SALES AT OSHKOSH

Alleged Misrepresentation in Sale of Stock Investigated at Madison

MADISON, Wis.—A hearing on alleged misrepresentation of stock sales of the Oshkosh Tractor Company in connection with the purchase of the La Crosse Tractor Company, manufacturers of the Happy Farmer Tractor, was held here late Tuesday afternoon by the securities division of the state railroad commission. The Oshkosh company was dissolved last December and its plans abandoned after close to $60,000 worth of stock had been paid in and another $40,000 subscribed.

George F. Williams, Oshkosh, represented the stockholders of the Oshkosh company in alleging three main misrepresentations to the stockholders. These were:

1. In regard to the amount of stock actually subscribed when the application for a permit for sale of the stock was filed with the state railroad commission.

2. As to the amount of profits made by the La Crosse Tractor company prior to the time of the filing of this application. Where profits are shown the stock is not classed as "speculative."

3. That the stock issued in payment of salaries was sold for benefit of individuals and it was alleged that misrepresentations were made as to the general value of such stock.

A. D. Paine, Oshkosh, was president of the Oshkosh Tractor company and was represented by George B. Hubbard. Among the Oshkosh subscribers that attended the hearing were James C. Casey, Pat Casey, and George Rasmussen, stock salesman.

WES BARRY—RIVOLI

Did you ever play hooky from school?

Wesley Barry, the freckle-faced movie star, plays hooky more than once in the Gus Edwards' screen play "School Days," which is at the Rivoli Theater, in a benefit showing shared by the Community Council.

And in playing hooky, Wes is said to lay the foundation for a story that will appeal to every human being who has experienced the thrills, the pranks and the many disappointments of boyhood.

For little Wesley, as the untamable and irresponsible Speck Brown, loves the old swimmin' hole and his dog, "Hippy" more than all the wealth and education in the world. But he chances to meet a wealthy uncle who induces him to pursue an education among the juvenile high-brows in the East. In his new surroundings he tries to be chummy. He also tries to put over an invention perfected by his old friend, Lefty, called "You can't Lose It-Clothes Fin." He finds himself duped by a pair of clever swindlers.

Disgusted with the artificial existence of his wealthy schoolmates, keenly disappointed by his failure to put over the invention, Wes' longs for the old swimmin' hole and his dog. In the wee small hours of the morning he runs away from his paternal residence, boards a freight train and finally arrives safely back in his old haunts.

TOM MEIGHAN—MAJESTIC

Thomas Meighan, popular Paramount star, scores another decisive hit in his new photoplay, "A Prince There Was," at the Majestic theater. The picture has a refreshing theme and is excellently presented. Mr. Meighan is seen as a son of the idle rich, who is unhappy and discontented for lack of something to do. The girl is a struggling young writer, trying to make a name for herself by writing short stories, but with little success. They are brought together by Comfort Brown, the little drudge of all work at the cheap boarding house where the girl is living, and a delightful romance develops, and at the finish all ends happily. The cast includes Mildred Harris, leading woman, Charlotte Jackson, Nigel Barrie, Guy Oliver, Sylvia Ashton, Fred Huntly and Arthur Hull.

STRAND TODAY

"Rip Van Winkle," which has been announced as the featured attraction at the Strand Theater tonight has been called the season's greatest picture. It is a faithful reproduction of "Joe" Jefferson's world-known stage version of Washington Irving's immortal story and "Joe's" own flesh and blood—his son, Thomas Jefferson—plays the title role so perfectly as to add new lustre to the family name.

The cast of "Rip Van Winkle" includes—besides Thomas Jefferson—Mike Davenport, Max Asher, Francis Carpenter, Gertrude Messinger, Daisy Robinson, Pietro Sasso and many other popular players.

RIVIERA TODAY

J. P. McGowan, star and director; Kathleen Clifford, noted prima donna and bright light of the screen; George C. Shedd, author of a long list of best sellers, and Monte Katterjohn, foremost photodramatist of the country, bestowed their combined talents upon "Cold Steel," which opens at the Riviera Theater today.

This brilliant array of headliners put their best into the making of a gripping story of the wastelands, of suspense, of romance, of intrigue and all the other ingredients that build up a drama of the screen.

"Cold Steel," was adapted by Mr. Katterjohn from the famous novel "In the Shadow of the Hills." The story is laid in the San Mateo Valley New Mexico, and is rich with the rugged atmosphere of the open country.

CASINO TODAY

A production that will stand out even in these days of lavish screen spectacles is announced for the Casino Theater today, when "Who Am I?" the latest National Picture will be presented. Max Brand is the author of the story which concerns Ruth Barnes, a beautiful girl who has spent her entire life at boarding and finishing schools, and who has never known her parents. Claire Anderson, Niles Welch and a cast of carefully chosen and well-known players enact the leading roles under the skillful direction of Henry Kolker.

WISCONSIN LIONS IN SEPARATE DISTRICT

SCOUT RALLY WILL BE HELD AT THE NORMAL SATURDAY

Features to Mark Monthly Meeting of the La Crosse Organization

On account of the use made of the High School Auditorium for the Junior-senior party, the Boy Scouts of La Crosse, through the courtesy of C. S. A. Auker, regent of the State Normal, the Normal auditorium will be made available to the Scouts for their monthly Scout rally, Saturday, 27, at 7:30.

The special features of the evening will be the selection of the prize winning knot-boards, submitted by individual troops, the contest in which the champion friction-fire marker for the city will be decided, a knot tying contest, and the contest in bandaging.

In the knot tying contest nine, four foot length ropes will be placed before each Scout participating in this contest. At the signal "Go" the contestant will tie the nine required knots and when this task is completed he will raise his two hands shoulder high. These boys will be timed and a system of deduction will be made for incorrect knots tied.

In the bandaging contest, each troop will submit a team of three men, one man will act as patient, and the other two will apply the head bandage, the finger bandage, and the spiral reverse. One Scout may apply the head bandage while the other, with the help of the patient, is applying the finger bandage and the spiral reverse. Time will be taken and deduction made for errors.

There will be five different places awarded in each contest. The first place will count as five points; second place, four points; third place, three points; fourth place, two points; and fifth place, one point. The troop winning the largest number of points will receive an appropriate prize for each member who participated in the contests.

All troops will assemble at the auditorium as at the High school; odd numbers from 1 to 27 will be seated at the right and even numbers from 2 to 26, at the left.

The chief will be at Scout Headquarters from 5 to 6:30 every afternoon to help any contestants work out the speed program for their teams.

PRIEST ACCIDENTALLY SHOT
NEW YORK—Monsignor M. J. Monsignor Phelan, who is 60 years old, has been rector of St. Cecilia's for 36 years.

IMITATION WINE FACTORY IS FOUND IN MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Milwaukee's first case of alleged manufacture of imitation bonded wine was revealed Tuesday, when state and federal prohibition agents raided the home of Mrs. Anna Sealer. Four persons are alleged to have been discovered in the act of putting counterfeit labels of imported Italian wine on bottles containing ordinary home-made Italian wine.

The agents confiscated twelve quart bottles of imitation wine, approximately ten thousand imitation labels and large supplies of tin foil, used to put over corks, and a large supply of corks.

MADISON, Wis.—The establishment of a special department within the Federal Reserve banking system for handling rural credits was recommended Wednesday by Gov. J. J. Blaine of Wisconsin, addressing the Southwest Wisconsin District Bankers' meeting here. He declared that the small non-member banks should be afforded a ready means of passing their collateral through the federal reserve system for rediscount "so and other small borrowers might be benefitted by preventing the flow of money to large centers. In the federal reserve system no means have been provided whereby these securities can be rediscounted with speed or with certainty.

"To the larger interests in the larger commercial centers flows the money," Governor Blaine asserted, saying that as a result "the rural banks find themselves unable to meet all the necessary demands of their constituents."

"The great object to be accomplished in providing for more credit is in utilizing Wisconsin money in Wisconsin industries and in discouraging the use of the current funds of Wisconsin farmers, business men and in-

beyond the borders of the state.

GREEN BAY WOMAN
DUPED BY FAITH
HEALER IS CHARGE

Arrest of Milwaukee Woman for Swindling Widow Out of $20,000 is Looked for

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The arrest of a Milwaukee woman on a charge of swindling a wealthy widow of Green Bay of nearly $20,000 was looked for as Wednesday as defectives and District Attorney Carl F. Young of Green Bay shadowed a house here, where the Milwaukee woman maintains a home.

According to the police, the Milwaukee woman has made a livelihood for several years as a faith healer. Several months ago the Green Bay widow now is reputed to be wealthy, heard of the faith healing claims of the woman and corresponded with her.

The result of the correspondence was an arrangement for the two women to meet in Chicago, where the Green Bay woman was to receive treatments. In Chicago it became known to the faith healer, District Attorney Young said, that the Green Bay patient was wealthy.

Shortly thereafter the Green Bay with her traveled the Milwaukee faith healer, who continued to live with her patient for several weeks. Recently the faith healer is said to have departed suddenly from Green Bay. With her went $17,000 of securities, mostly bonds, of the Green Bay woman and more than $2,000 in currency, the district attorney of Brown county said.

District Attorney Young conferred with Milwaukee police officials today.

A telegram from Chicago about noon announced that the faith healer is on her way to her Milwaukee home.

Identify Woman

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Mrs. Emelia Silbersdorf, widow of Conrad Silbersdorf, is believed here by Carocompanion, to be the woman who was swindled out of approximately $20,000 by a Milwaukee faith healer.

Mrs. Silbersdorf is reported to have left Green Bay Tuesday in company with District Attorney Carl F. Young, presumably for Chicago.

According to Miss Hochgreve, who has been in the employ of Mrs. Silbersdorf for seven years, the widow has not been in good health. Miss Hochgreve denied knowledge of a faith healer being in Green Bay and living with Mrs. Silbersdorf.

WOMEN ASK PASSAGE OF BADGER LAW IN EVERY LEGISLATURE

National Women's Party Gets Back of Wisconsin Women's Equal Rights Law

MADISON, Wis.—The Wisconsin equal rights law guaranteeing to women the same legal rights enjoyed by men is to be brought before every state legislature for adoption, the National Woman's party announces. Results of this pioneer legislation in this state are said to have fully justified the law.

"Wisconsin was the first state in the union to take the initial step of granting complete equality before the law to women," the Woman's party said. "Under the laws of Wisconsin today women stand upon the same basis as men, freed from ancient discriminations and disabilities which still fetter them in other states."

"Centuries of legal precedent and tradition built upon the conception of women as inferior beings and sanctioning with the majesty of the law the subjugation of one-half of the race have been overturned by Wisconsin at one clean stroke. The successful operation of the Wisconsin equal rights law and its effectiveness in securing equality for women is evidenced by the striking harmony with which it is received by state officers and judges."

The woman's party assert that state administrators have found that the law does not endanger protective legislation for women and deprives them of none of the special rights under the law.

DENUDED TURKEY "CAME TO"

One of New Jersey's most conservative towns is consumed with mirth, and the objects of said mirth are a young kind-hearted bride and bridegroom. The bridegroom, it appears, took a chance on a turkey that was being raffled off in his New York office and a few days later was notified that he had won the pompous bird. Highly delighted, he gave his address and ordered the prize sent out to his New Jersey home.

In the course of time the bird arrived at its destination, and arrived, much to the surprise of the bride and bridegroom, in a wire crate very much alive, remarks the New York Sun. As their experience in executing birds was nil and the bride "couldn't bear to have its pretty head chopped off," they decided to chloroform it. Consequently, the next night, when the bridegroom got home from the office, the anesthetic was administered on a lovely lace handkerchief and then the bird was plucked and put into the ice box. About 9 o'clock that night the peace and quiet around the library lamp were disturbed by strange noises in the kitchen.

Hand in hand the newlyweds descended upon the kitchen expecting to find the ever-looked-for burglar. But no burglar was to be seen. Locating the noise in the direction of the ice box the brave young bridegroom swung open the doors and out stepped a very naked turkey. After a few rounds of the kitchen with considerable flapping of wings he began picking up the crumbs on the floor. The bride and bridegroom looked at each other in horror and fled from the kitchen. An hour or so later the services of a neighbor called upon and this time the turkey was anesthetized with an ax.

UP TO MOTHER TO KEEP BABY'S MILK PURE

CERTIFIED MILK HELPS A BABY TO HOLD HIS SPINE ERECT

BY MRS. MAX WEST
Late of the United States Children's Bureau

Some wise person once remarked that the most important thing that goes into the baby's bottle is the good sense of the mother.

The milk may be of the purest when it leaves the dairy, but if it stands on a sunny doorstep for an hour or two, or waits in a hot kitchen while the mother goes to market, or is left in an open dish for flies to fall into, it will not be fit to give the baby.

Milk is an extremely delicate article, and is the favorite food of certain little cells that are capable of making great trouble for the baby, once they get inside him. They love milk of a mild temperature and when they find it, they grow and multiply with amazing rapidity.

On the other hand, they are greatly discouraged either by cold or heat. Therefore, the first law of the care of the milk should be "keep it very cold." It should be chilled before it leaves the dairy. Then it should be kept chilled until it is delivered at the house.

After that the mother must play her part. The milk should be taken in the moment it is delivered, and put at once on the ice. If there is no ice, it should be put in running water, or under folds of cheesecloth, the ends of which are in a pan of water which stands in an open window.

Every mother who has to do without ice in summer should have an iceless refrigerator. These are readily made at home if someone is clever with a hammer and a saw, and they cost so little that certainly at least every family in which there is a baby should have one.

Properly made and used, this convenience will keep milk quite cold enough for safety, even in very hot weather, and will save a world of anxiety about sour or bad milk. Write to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., for directions for making.

Failing any of these, the milk should be boiled. This is always the counsel of prudence in the hottest weather. The baby is not likely to suffer from any possible bad effect of boiled milk for a few days, and will probably be much better off, than he will be if fed upon contaminated milk of any sort. In still other cases, it may be best to resort to dried milk, if the quality of the fresh supply available is dubious. Dried milk, under various trade names, may be had in drug stores.

STODDARD CITIZEN PROTESTS RAISING OF RAILROAD CHARGE

Lewis Knipple Claims that Southeastern Charges High Land Rental

Lewis R. Knipple of Stoddard has filed a petition with the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin protesting against an increase in the rental rate for lands belonging to the La Crosse and Southeastern railroad at Stoddard which he uses for his cement block factory. The petition recites: That the above named railway company raised the rental on the property leased by the petitioner from $5 to $30 per year which was paid under protest on June 1, 1921. An increase was expected but at the most one-half of this figure.

Pride of land bought of the above named railway company is too high considering quality. Price of sand did increase with labor costs but did not decrease with labor costs. If a public hearing is necessary the petitioner prays that it be held as near this vicinity as possible at a time which will be convenient to the Commission; and if petition is granted, that refund be ordered equal to the difference between the amount paid on June 1, 1921, and the amount deemed fair and proper by the Commission for such rental.

THE CLOUDS OF MARS

The Martian atmosphere is much clearer than ours. It is not, however, absolutely cloudless. Clouds are nearly always visible on the disc, but they are not usually reported because they are difficult to observe. In the polar regions the clouds are sometimes so white as to be with difficulty distinguished from the snow. After they have disappeared at the poles, the ground is often seen to be white with freshly-fallen snow. Sometimes cloud-masses partially conceal a whole hemisphere, and cloudy nights appear to be frequent.

For Ten Dollars and Ninety Cents—This 30 x 3½ Usco

THE 30x3½ tire situation today is just this—

The man who buys an USCO at $10.90 is justified in believing that his money is going farther in tire value than it ever has gone or could go before.

Naturally he appreciates the quality of USCO. That was established long ago.

It is still fresh in his mind that USCO led the national market into the $10.90 price range.

The makers of U.S. Tires always intended the 30x3½ USCO to be the highest value in its field.

At $10.90 it creates a new classification of money's worth.
